This is the most comprehensive book on the Sheffield tool industry so far compiled. It contains over 700 histories of makers of files and rasps, wood-working tools, sickles and scythes, shears, measuring instruments, and engineers' and machine tools.

- Famous names such as Spear & Jackson, Rabone Chesterman, Footprint, Sorby, and Tyzack are included, besides hundreds of smaller enterprises.
- Each profile has detailed trade mark and genealogical information. Hundreds of illustrations document the factories, personalities, and tools.
- An Introduction outlines the history of the world's greatest tool centre.
- It is a major resource for historians, genealogists, collectors, and anyone interested in traditional crafts.
